And the next time you have 4 groups of dc in a row on the sides and in the middle, then it's time to start on three new skulls on the next round.

In the end, to get a nice looking ending, instead of beginning crocheting new skulls I continued with 4 dc and 2 chains between. Like this:

When you are tired of looking at my pictures and know where to put the stitches, you can write this down on a piece of paper, to know how the skulls are made. The bottom line is where you start your skulls.
